COLLAB

Club Lane Multitask and REDinc. Art Studio Artists will partner to develop a collaborative exhibition of artworks. REDinc. Studio & Club Lane Multitask are both supported art studios based in the Northern Rivers region and provide inclusive spaces for artists with a disability to develop artworks, experiment and build their art practices within a vibrant studio environment and support from professional artists and arts workers.

Each studio has a diverse array of artists working in a number of different art forms. The Collab exhibition will showcase the works of emerging artists with a disability from the Northern Rivers region and will include 2D, 3D artworks, painting, drawing, and printmaking, sculpture, ceramics, jewellery, photography, and multimedia.

ABOUT THE EXHIBITION

The basic premise of the exhibition is collaboration and each studio will develop opportunities to collaborate with each other as well as within their own studio spaces. Exchanging ideas, skills and techniques to create a rich body of work that showcases the artists' stories and expresses their unique interests and experiences.

The artists from both studios began collaborating in 2019 through RED Inc.'s Creative Revival Project which received funding from the Foundation for Regional and Rural Renewal. REDinc. Studio invited Club Lane artists to participate in weaving workshops with visiting artist Jillian Bowles.

The Club Lane & REDinc. artists are now developing a series of woven works that will be part of the Collab exhibition. REDinc. artists have also recently collaborated with guest artist Kellie O'Dempsey on a drawing-based project that will also be included in the exhibition and will continue to share some of these artworks and newly learned skills with the Club Lane Multitask artists.

Throughout 2019 artists from the two studios will continue to work with various guest artists such as And Studio facilitators such as, painter René Boltan, printmakers Michael White, ceramicists Cynthia Manietta and Beki Davies, graffiti artist Justin Livingston and graphic designer/illustrator Rose Wadsworth, to make artworks, share skills & collaborate and create a body of works to show in the exhibition.
